

SRI Opens San Diego, California, Office

December 6, 2006

In September 2006, SRI opened up a branch office in San Diego, California, located in colorful Old Town. This branch of SRI will provide cultural resource management services to a variety of customers all over California and other parts of the far West. Dr. Mark Q. Sutton, RPA, is office director and principal investigator, and Dr. Jill K. Gardner, RPA, is operations manager and principal investigator. Between them, Mark and Jill have 53 years of archaeological experience. SRI looks forward to working with old and new friends from this location. Please feel free to contact Jill and Mark for additional information regarding the new San Diego office.
