

SRI Exhibits Innovation for Military

July 12, 2007

Adapting compliance to military realities is the theme of SRI's exhibit at the U.S. Department of Defense's Sustaining Military Readiness conference in Orlando, Florida. SRI can be found at Booth 25 from July 30 to August 3 at Disney's Coronado Springs Resort.

SRI is a leader in supporting the military mission at installations around the world by reducing inefficiencies from compliance programs; developing innovative, less expensive, and more effective methods for resource stewardship; and maintaining a focus on achieving military goals in the course of preserving cultural heritage. SRI's booth will exhibit the firm's successes.

SRI Chairman Dr. Jeffrey Altschul will be at the exhibit booth to speak with military personnel, civilian employees, and government contractors about historic preservation needs and opportunities for successfully achieving compliance.